

"The Word Collector" which is all about a little boy named Jerome, who loves to collect words just as other children collect stamps, shells or rocks. The book celebrates the transformational power of words for all ages.

One morning, we walked around School collecting words, just like Jerome did. The words link to our next topic, Space, which will start after half term. There was also tricky words which we have recently learnt.

The children enjoyed finding the words and we look forward to finding out their meanings ready for our new topic.
